SPONSORSHIP PROSPECTS

AR RAHMAN

THE MAESTRO OF DREAMS

A black and white photograph of A.R. Rahman performing on stage. He is shown from the side, looking upwards with his eyes closed, singing into a microphone. He has a small earpiece in his left ear. The background is dark with stage lights creating a dramatic atmosphere.

The musical maestro from Chennai needs no introduction. Paving his way into the highest echelons of the world of music with hits like "Chinna Chinna Aasai" and "Mitwa", A.R Rahman has carved himself a niche out of the international musical stage. He has won two academy awards for his work in "Slumdog Millionaire", four National Film Awards, Six Tamil Nadu State film awards, sixteen Film fare awards South; honorary doctorates from Aligarh Muslim university, Anna university in Chennai, Miami University in Ohio, and Berklee College of Music for his invaluable contributions to music.

A.R Rahman's journey through music has taken him far and wide, earned him world-wide adoration and accolades beyond counting.

Join us on the 3rd of March, 2018, as for the second time in history and after nine years since the first, The Mozart of Madras weaves us a symphony for the history books.

INTERNATIONAL STADIUM

SPECTATORS

Located in Kariavattom (Trivandrum), Greenfield International Stadium recently bore witness to the 35th Indian National Games, and much more recently, to the T20I match between India and New Zealand earlier this month. Designed by College of Design, Mumbai, Greenfield is a beacon of hope for Sports and Games development in South India. Curated to the highest standards, Greenfield stadium boasts capabilities for seating up to 55000 spectators, and parking for over 2000 vehicles at a time – perfect conditions for any event, be it a sports match or a music concert.

WHY?

Almost 9% of all children in India are orphans. Adoption Rates in India have been plummeting in recent years, down by up to 50 percent in the last five years. Education in most states face a reverse bottleneck, with good support for higher education but with a quickly eroding foundation in Primary education. Social welfare schemes are losing momentum, and the future of India's Children is beginning to look bleak.

How much direr must the situation be for the thousands of children without homes or guardians? A large part of the proceeds from this concert will go into providing safety and equal opportunity to underprivileged children under 16 years of age. Help us, help them.

WHO WE ARE

The organising team is a diverse group of Engineering students from various colleges in Trivandrum with ample experience organizing large-scale events.

A part of this team organised Dhwani, the annual cultural fest of College of Engineering, Trivandrum. Dhwani is the flagship cultural event of CET, an event spanning three days showcasing the cultural aptitudes laying dormant in each and every student. Dhwani is also an opportunity for various groups to bring their artforms to a wide and varied audience. Over 15000 people attended Dhwani.
